

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Associate in Arts

Through a combined approach in psychology, sociology, natural science, cultural and organizational studies, you will earn a foundation for transfer to a four-year institution.

Upon completion the graduate will be able to:

- Understand, predict and effectively address the behavior of individuals and groups
- Apply social sciences concepts to real-world situations
- Develop strategies for communicating effectively and demonstrate the strategies in oral and written contexts
- Understand how diverse cultural backgrounds impact workplace and communities
- Conduct applied research

The Social Sciences degree examines the study of human behavior through a broad spectrum of understandings, insights, and appreciations.
